REV. BEERS HELD

Charge of Manslaughter to Be Preferred Against Preacher.

Jury Found Him Criminally Responsible for Wife's Death.

Charged with being criminally responsible for the death of his wife at the Glenwood hotel in Topeka late Tuesday afternoon, the Rev. W. L. Beers, pastor of the Methodist church at Wakarusa, is being held preparatory to filing formal complaint. The charge against the minister, it is said, will be that of manslaughter. The complaint followed a finding of a coroner's jury, returned shortly after 6 complaint followed a finding of a cor-oner's jury, returned shortly after 6 o'clock last night, finding that the woman came to her death by being strangled by her lower plate of false teeth, and finding that the plate had been pushed down her throat by her husband.

Around that point the entire case hinged.

Wallace McDowell, a bell boy at the Glenwood, testified the minister and his wife registered at 4 o'clock. He showed them to room 51 on the third floor. Beers asked him to lower a window that was up and turn on the steam, and when the witness told him he would have to go to the office for a key to the steam register he asked, the witness said, if it would be necessity to return to the room. McDowell told him it would be.

Ten or fifteen minutes later, after he had returned from turning the steam, the witness said, he heard a scream somewhere upstaits. He went up to the second floor, and finding nothing went on the third floor. In passing room 51 he said he heard a noise as of choking or an attempt to vomit, and supposing some one was sick he returned to the office.

It was 10 or 15 minutes later, he said, that he was summoned to the room and the minister case him would were lined up for he wife, he still would be services. More than the wife, he still would be.

The inquest brought several sensational features of the tragedy to light. The most sensational testimony was that given by Dr. F. J. American naval vessels are exempted without specific mention either in the act of congress or the proclamation because the authorities believed it unnecessary to explain the uselessness of payment from its navy department pocket to the one belonging to the treasury department.

The president based his declaration of rates upon the report and investigation of Professor Emery R Johnson, of the University of Pennsyvania, an expert designated by executive order, for the task. The report has been awaited with interest by shipping interests throughout the world.
